Geo. W. Vanderbilt, multimillionaire philanthropist and sportsman, died of heart failure in Washington Friday, aged 52. He was the founder of the town of Biltmore, N. LOCAL BILLS IN DANGER

Piled up In a Mass of 900—Other Measures at Mercy of Rules Committee.

Frankfort, Ky., March 9.—The defeat in the house by an almost unanimous viva voce vote, of the bill to enlarge the powers and increase the duties of the state board of health was the outstanding feature, insofar as the state-at-large is concerned, of Saturday's session of the legislature. Representative J. N. McCormack, of Bowling Green, former member of the state board of health, spoke nearly an hour in behalf of the measure.

The Clay bill, to enable Jefferson county to adopt the commission form of government January 1, 1916, which passed the senate Thursday night by an overwhelming majority, was reported in the house March 7. Speaker Terrell referred the bill to the committee on municipalities over the protest of Representative Adam Spahn, of Louisville, who wanted it referred to suffrage and elections, of which he is a member.

Over in the senate the day's session was of little interest. Five bills were passed, but none of them was of state-wide interest.

With the Rules Committees in charge, no bills can now be called up without it is done with the consent of those committees.

The two bills for which 1000 voters of Hopkinsville petitioned are lost in the pile of 900 other bills. The Bosworth commission bill has passed the senate and is in the house with a favorable report. The Duffy classification bill has passed the house and has been favorably reported in the senate. The slightest amendment will send the bills back and at a time when they have one chance in 900 to pass.

GRINDING BUT SLOWLY

Only Minor Matters Are Set For Trial During This Week.

But little has been done in Circuit Court since last report.

The second case of Mrs. Josephine Davis against the city, was tried Saturday and a verdict returned for the city. Mrs. Davis sought to hold the city responsible for the overflow of her property, which lies on the river bank.

The case of Bobby Moore vs. the Tennessee Central Railroad Co., was then taken up and was tried yesterday. The woman sued for being put off a train at Fidelity. The other juries were dismissed until today.

The case of Tom West vs. the City is set for today. Mr. West drove his buggy into a rope across Main street that formed a barricade around the house of M. C. Forbes during a case of critical illness, and broke his buggy. A lighted lantern had been placed on the rope.

Driskill-Boyd.

Mr. Homer P. Driskill, of this city, and Miss Lanna M. Boyd, of Crofton, were married one day last week, by Rev. J. T. Clevenger, in the Crofton Hotel. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Boyd, who operate the Crofton Hotel. She is quite a handsome and attractive young woman. The groom is an employee of the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

SCHEME TO DEFRAUD

Man Tried to Swindle The Public By Magazine Subscriptions.

MAN ARRESTED IN ALABAMA.

Same Scheme Was Worked In Hopkinsville Last Summer.

Last August a young lady giving her name as Stella Loek, of Knoxville, Tenn., took subscription in this city in the name of the Metropolitan Circulating Co., 116 Nassau St., New York, for a combination of periodicals for 49 cents. The club included Photo Play three months, Woman's World and Spare Moments one year and McClure's Magazine three months. The receipt contained a notice that a reward would be paid for the arrest and conviction of any person using the firm name for fraudulent purposes. The young lady told a story that she was collecting money to complete her education and nearly everybody approached handed her half a dollar and let her keep the change.

The periodicals never came. One of the victims wrote to the Metropolitan Circulating Co., and the answer came stating that it would be necessary to see the number on the receipt. The number was supplied, the receipt being retained, and no further notice was ever paid to the complaint. The following press dispatch looks like the same scheme was worked in Florida:

Montgomery, Ala., March 7.—W. Lane Moore, the Georgian who was arrested by the federal authorities here several weeks ago on a charge of using the mails in promotion of a scheme to defraud, has been released from the county jail and has been taken to Georgia, where it is stated he was placed in a sanitarium for mental treatment.

According to the federal authorities, Moore was arrested after an investigation into magazine subscriptions in Tampa, Fla. It is alleged that Moore conducted an agency, hired numerous pretty girl solicitors and offered a number of standard magazines for 49 cents a year. The magazines, it is declared, were never forthcoming.

When Moore was arrested, he claimed the case was one of mistaken identity.

THREE MEETINGS Of The Council Held, Last One Last Night.

The City Council held a called session Thursday night to audit accounts and the regular session Friday night, which latter session was adjourned till last night, at which it was expected that Manager Fitch, of the Kentucky Public Service Co., would appear to discuss a new electric light contract for street lights. The old contract for about $7,500 expired Nov. 16.

A committee from the Business Men's Association appeared Friday night and asked that the sprinkling contract of last year be renewed and a temporary arrangement was made to start the sprinkler this week. Only routine matters were attended to.

INSURANCE BILL A LAW

Governor McCreary Affixed His Signature Saturday Afternoon.

COMPANIES MAY WITHDRAW

Agents of 125 Companies Have Received Orders To Stop Writing.

Frankfort, Ky., March 9.—The Glenn insurance bill, passage of which by the legislature is reported to have caused many important foreign and domestic fire insurance companies to notify their agents to cease doing business in Kentucky, became a law Saturday when Governor McCreary signed the measure. The new law creates a state rating bureau, empowered to regulate insurance rates and provides for a tax of one per cent on all fire insurance premiums, the tax being collectible on the basis of the business of the preceding year. The money derived from this tax shall be used to pay salaries and expenses of the rating bureau in its work.

Threaten To Withdraw.

Lexington, Ky., March 9.—Among the companies which Saturday notified agents that they would withdraw from Kentucky are the Commercial Union of New York and London and the Palantine of London. Agents of 125 companies received orders two weeks ago to cease operating temporarily and consequently no insurance has been written by them in that period.

State officers say the Glenn measure only adds $45,000 to the State levy on all companies operating in the State. Conditions are said to be similar to those in the state of Missouri two years ago.

PLANNING BIG PLANT

Ellis Ice & Coal Company May Erect a $30,000 Addition.

The Ellis Ice & Coal Company, who own a fifty-ton capacity ice plant, have announced they will make additions to their plant that will possibly cost $30,000. The company will erect a large cold storage plant covering half a square on a lot adjoining their present plant. In addition to renting storage to anybody who wants it they will buy butter, eggs, poultry, fruits and vegetables for the city markets. A well equipped slaughterhouse will be an adjunct and all the poultry will be killed and dressed before shipping.

The work of installing the boilers necessary to operate the new plant has already been begun and the erection of the cold storage plant will begin soon and be ready for the fall poultry trade.

Sent Home.

Frankfort Ky., March 9.—The state prison commission Friday paroled 25 children, ranging in ages from nine to 12 years, from the house of reform, and will send them back to the counties whence they came. Chairman O'Sullivan said that, carrying out the opinion of the commission, that the house of reform is not a proper place to send little children, the commission will return them to their homes as fast as they are sent there.

SHACKELFORD BOOST BILL

Would Give County $12,000 a Year if State Aid Law is Passed By Legislature.

LIST OF APPORTIONMENTS.

5c Tax on $100 Would Take $6,500 From Christian and Give Road Fund $12,000.

The Shackelford good roads act which passed the house last Wednesday by a vote of 282 to 42, will if it becomes a law, give $584,720 to Kentucky for good roads building, provided the same amount is raised by the counties through which the road pass.

The federal plan is to give annually from an appropriation of $25,000,000 appropriations to each state. The requirement is a tax of only 5 cents on each $100, which would produce a revenue of $600,000 annually producing from these two sources $1,183,750 which, when supplemented by a tax from the counties of an equal sum would provide $2,367,500, or a sufficient income to build within eleven years 6,200 miles of road connecting every county seat in the state with every other one.

The amount apportioned to each state is reckoned on the percentage of total population and post road mileage in the state.

As Kentucky is one of the twenty-two states that have no road laws, each county desiring to receive federal aid may do so by applying to the governor, who will in turn apply to the secretary of agriculture, and if approved the county will receive its apportionment based on its population and mileage of its post roads.

The following is a statement of which each county in the state will pay in and what they will receive, none of which can go over $12,000, or 2 per cent of the $600,000 raised by the 5 per cent tax.

Counties with $4,000,000 taxable property or less are Adair, Allen, Anderson, Ballard, Bracken, Bullitt, Butler, Caldwell, Carlisle, Carroll, Carter, Casey, Clay, Clinton, Crittenden, Cumberland, Edmonson, Elliott, Estill, Eloyd, Gallatin, Grayson, Johnson, Knott, Larue, Laurel, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Livingston, Lyon, Magoffin, Martin, McClain, Meade, Menefee, Metcalf, Monroe, McCreary, Morgan, Owensley, Perry, Powell, Robertson, Spencer, Taylor, Trimble and Wolfe, and these counties would pay in from $500 to $2,000 and under the state aid could take out $12,000 as the limit of the 2 per cent assessment of the $600,000 state tax.

The counties in the state with from $4,000,000 to $10,000,000 are Barren, Bath, Belle, Boyd, Boone, Breckinridge, Calloway, Fleming, Fulton, Grant, Greenup, Garrard, Hardin, Harlan, Henry, Hickman, Hopkins, Jessamine, Knox, Lewis, Lincoln, Logan, Marion, Marshall, Mercer, Montgomery, Muhlenburg, Nelson, Ohio, Oldham, Owen, Pendleton, Pike, Pulaski, Simpson, Todd, Washington, Wayne, Webster and Whiteley. These counties would pay into the State $2,000 to $5,000 and could receive $12,000.

The counties in the State with from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 are Boyle, Christian, Clark, Franklin, Graves, Harrison, Madison, Nicholas, Woodford and Union. These counties would pay in from $5,000 to $7,500 and would receive $12,000.

The counties in the State with from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 are Daviess, Bourbon, Henderson, Mason, McCracken, Scott, Shelby, Warren, and these would pay into the State from $7,500 to $10,000 and would receive $12,000.

The counties that will pay into the State on valuations over $20,000,000 are Campbell, Fayette, Jefferson,

RANGERS GET BODY

Enter Mexico and Disinter the Corpse of Vergara and Bring It To Texas.

RANCHMAN WAS TORTURED

Fingers Burned Off Before He Was Finally Murdered.

Austin, Texas, March 8.—Texas rangers last night crossed the international border into Mexico, disinterred the body of Clemente Vergara, Texas ranchman, in the Hidalgo cemetery, and returned it to American soil.

The official report of Captain Saunders on the incident was given out by the executive department. It said, simply:

"I proceeded to Hidalgo, secured Vergara's body, and returned it to Laredo."

The rangers were not opposed, accomplishing their search without the slightest violence, taking the body from a grave in Hidalgo cemetery, almost in sight of the Texas border. The seizure was divested of possibly grave aspects in international complications by reason of the fact that the rangers were practically making use of permission granted officially by Mexican federal authorities several days ago for recovery of the body. This permission had been given to United States Consul Alonzo Garrett, at Nuevo Laredo, but he did not get the body, because of what he reported as dangers attending search for it in the immediate vicinity of Hidalgo.

Ranchman Tortured.

Vergara was shot twice through the head and once through the neck, his skull was crushed as by a blow from a rifle butt, and the charred fingers of the left hand indicated that he had been tortured before being put to death.

Identification was made by the dead man's son and by numerous friends, many of whom were in the party of nine, led by the state border patrol, which made the grim journey to the Hidalgo cemetery during the early morning hours.

The body was brought into the United States at a point 45 miles northeast of Laredo, opposite Hidalgo and near the Vergara ranch. American Consul Garrett of Nuevo Laredo, deputy sheriffs and other authorities were waiting to receive it, and pending the arrival of an undertaker from Laredo, an armed force stood guard over the body.

"DOCK" BOYD DEAD Native of Christian Passes Away in Florida.

Mr. A. F. Boyd, familiarly known as "Dock" Boyd, died at Bostwick, Fla., March 8. He had not enjoyed good health for several years. Mr. Boyd was reared in this county and lived many years on his farm a few miles Northeast of Gracey. Later he resided in this city but moved to Northeast Christian. About the first of December last he moved to Florida with his son, Wilbur Boyd, and took up his residence near Bostwick. He was about seventy years old and a member of the Baptist church. The interment took place at Bostwick.

Kenton, and these four counties as a whole would pay into the State about $240,000 or 40 per cent of the total State tax and could only take out $12,000; but these counties have declared themselves for good roads and this amount would assist in the expenditure.

WEDDING DINNER AT RANCH

Pleasant Time for All When Neighbors Brought In the Dishes and Cowboys Served.Our dinner was a success, but that is not to be wondered at. Every woman for miles around contributed. Of course, we had to borrow dishes, but we couldn't think of seating everyone, so we set one table for 24 and had three other long tables, on one of which we placed all the meats, pickles and sauces, on another the vegetables, soup and coffee, and on the third the pie, cake, ice cream and other desserts. We had two big shelves, one above the other, on which were the dishes. The people helped themselves to dishes and neighbors took turns at serving from the tables, so people got what they wanted and hunted themselves a place to sit while they ate.Two of the cowboys from this ranch waited upon the table at which were the wedding party and some of their friends. Boys from other ranches helped serve and carried coffee, cake and ice cream. The tablecloths were tolerably good linen, and we had ironed them wet so they looked nice. We had white lace paper on the shelves,
and we used drawn-work paper napkins. As I said, we borrowed dishes, or, that is, every woman who called herself our neighbor brought whatever she thought we would need. So after every one had eaten, I suggested that they sort out their dishes and wash them, and in that way I was saved all that work. We had everything done and were off to the dance
by five o'clock.—Atlanta Monthly.

Intervals Between Meals.

The question as to the length of the interval between meals is an important one, says a physician. And here, in particular, individual requirements enter largely. Some people can go for a considerable time without food and feel better for so doing.
Others feel sick and unduly tired if they fast too long. It rests with each one to find out what suits him best.
On general principles, however, if an interval is too short there is a likelihood of a certain amount of food being left over still undigested from the last meal. And this interferes with the work of the stomach.If, however, the interval is too long the system has become exhausted, and the stomach goes on strike. By the time the meal is taken the supply of gastric fluid has failed. If a long interval between any two meals is unavoidable it is better to take some light food in the meantime. This prevents the sense of exhaustion, and does not hinder the stomach from doing its work when called upon.

God Back at the Judge.

Hawkins, Q. C., a famous pleader of the mid-Victorian era, was engaged before Lord Campbell in a case that arose out of a collision between a hrougham and an omnibus. One of the advocates pronounced the word
"brougham" as a disyllable, evidently unaware that the name of the vehicle,
like the surname of Lord Brougham,
is abbreviated into a monosyllable.
After several repetitions the judge grew irritated and exclaimed:"Brother Hawkins, if you would say
'broom' you would save a syllable and the time of the court."Counsel took the hint; but hid his time for a retort. Presently the judge began to sum up, and had occasion to speak of the "omnibus.""My Lord," interrupted the audacious advocate, "if your Lordship would only say 'bus,' you would save two syllables and the time of the court."—William S. Walsh in the Chicago Record-Herald Sunday Magazine.

No Dignity In the Ginger Snap.

"Since last week I munch the lowly ginger snap and kindred small cakes with increased respect," a housekeeper confided to her guest.
"What caused me to revise my previous opinion of their importance was an introduction to a man who makes $3,000 a year designing figures for their ornamentation. That raised ginger snaps considerably in my estimation.""Up to that time I had not noticed that they were ornamented at all; but now that the geometrical designs and birds and animals that beautify the ginger cake of commerce have been pointed out to me, and I have come to realize that every time I eat a cake I am helping to consume $3,000 worth of somebody's artistic talent, I swallow those toothsome morsels with awesome appreciation."

Digestible Bananas.

The person who said the banana is
"an indigestible and injurious fruit"
did not know what he was talking about. It may be that there are people with whom bananas do not agree,
but to the vast majority of people
they are wholesome and delightful.
You do not need to be informed that the banana is the mainstay of hundreds of millions of human beings,
and they not only enjoy their great food staple, but get along on it splendently, keeping well and strong and happy. The banana is one of the greatest blessings of nature's providence.

Steadiness Personified.

Mike Reagan applied to Mrs. Stone for position as chauffeur, and gave the name of a friend as reference.Mrs. Stone sought the friend and asked:"Mr. Brady, your neighbor, Michael Reagan, has applied to me for a place as chauffeur. Is he a steady man?"
"Steady!" cried Brady. "Indeed, mum! If he was any steadier he'd be dead."

SOME FARMERS GET NO WAGE

With Many the Income Is Said to Be
All From Investment, None
From Labor.One measure of a farmer's success is the amount of money which he has left to pay him for his own labor
after he has met all other expenses of running his farm, writes D. W.
Frear in the Breeder's Gazette. The legitimate running expenses of the farm do not include personal, living or household expenses. This sum received by the farmer for his own labor for the year is his labor income.Some farmers are making labor incomes about as large as their hired men and some are making good yearly salaries. Others are receiving little or nothing for their labor. Their farm income is largely or entirely from the interest on their investment. Farmers who are not making labor incomes equal to the wages of a good hired man would be better off financially if they would sell their farms, put their money out at interest and work for wages.An example will make this plain.
Assume that a farmer has a farm income of $1,500, and that his farm investment is $20,000. Interest on this at six per cent. is $1,200. The difference between this amount and $1,500, or $300, represents his labor income. If his net income is only $1,200, then he has no labor income and is working for nothing.Farmers should keep sufficient records of their business to enable them to determine their labor income. This means taking an inventory at the opening and closing of the year and keeping a record of the expenses
and receipts.If a farmer is not making ordinary wages in addition to a fair rate of interest on his investment, he ought to know it, and then take steps to learn why and to correct the trouble. On the other hand, some farmers are making more than good interest on their investment and

GREEN FOOD IN THE WINTER

Turnips, Cabbage, Beets and All Such Vegetables Furnish Change Which All Fowls Appreciate.

During spring, summer and fall it is not difficult to supply a variety of green food for fowls, as any kind of tender growing vegetation is relished by them, but when cold weather sets in it is very different, and things must be set aside during the fall season.

Turnips, cabbage, beets and all such vegetables make good food and furnish a grateful change, which the fowls appreciate. Of all the vegetables we have had the best results with cabbage. It is usually cheap in the fall and well into the winter. We have paid as much as 5 cents per head for it because we realize that it is to our advantage to supply the green food to the fowls. The cost is a small item, for one head will supply six hens for a week or ten days.

It is our custom to suspend the head so that the fowls will be forced to jump a little to get a bite. It is left hanging for two hours each day, and then is taken down—for two reasons: First, to prevent the fowls from eating too much and becoming loose in the hawks and, second, for the sake of economy.

Possibly sprouted grain will be found much cheaper than cabbage. We always try to have sprouted oats on hand to feed, but at times we are caught without a thing in that line to feed. It is then that the cabbage comes to the rescue. The best place to sprout the oats in winter is in a warm cellar or cave. Do not attempt to sprout in the barn, for the chances are that it will never sprout. It takes a temperature of about 50 degrees to sprout the grain to the best advantage.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR SHEEP

Farm Is Not Complete Without a Least a Few of Animals—They Are Excellent Money Makers.

Frank Kleinheinz, a Wisconsin sheepman, writes Farm Home as follows: There has never been, at least not for the last ten or twelve years a better and brighter outlook for sheep industry than at the present time. If one studies existing conditions and looks forward in the future one can easily forecast that sheep will be very profitable for years to come. It is up to the smaller farmer to raise more sheep to feed the American people. Therefore, let us start in now and not let the other fellow get ahead of us, because a farm is not complete without at least a few sheep on it. With a fair chance they are good and easy money-makers on the farm.

Excellent Type.

A man who does not like sheep should never engage in sheep husbandry. Men who love them are the ones who have success with them. No breed will do well in the hands of a rough, brutal, quick-tempered and harsh man, as these characteristics are absolutely contrary to the harmless and peaceful nature of the animals.

SEPARATE YOUNG FROM OLD

During Growing Period Young Stock Needs to Be Protected From Old Ones to Prevent Abuse.

A good many people who might otherwise be very successful with poultry have their profit decreased because they allow the young and the old stock to remain undivided in the same house, or yard, or both. During the growing period the young stock needs a great deal of food and needs to be protected from the old ones, which, if allowed to do so, will abuse them more or less. If free range is impossible, provide separate yards and always keep the young in a separate building, if possible, or in a separate room at least. Poultry getting ready to lay need more feed as a rule than hens which have moulted out well, because the pullets need to finish their growth and maturity, as well as make eggs. This is another reason why the young and the old should be kept separate.

Utility of Fruit Thinning.

Fruit thinning pays in money returns the first year.
The earlier the thinning can be done the better will be the returns.
The best results are obtained by leaving the apples from nine to ten inches apart.
The systematic and annual uniform thinning does much toward securing an annual crop.

Poor Fertilizer.

Certain enterprising fertilizer men in the west are selling fine ground rock and sand as fertilizer. Some of this stuff they call stone meal and stone dust.

PUT PREMIUM ON MATRIMONY

Many Homely Women With Fortunes Wish to Wed, Declares This New Yorker.

There are plenty of homely women with fortunes who wish to get married. This is declared by Ralph Herman, thirty years old of 34 Riverdale avenue, Yonkers, N. Y., who is trying to select the right one to marry. He advertised in a Yonkers newspaper for a woman to become his wife, and in his specifications for a helpmeet stated that he would prefer a homely one with a lot of money. Extra postmen had to be sent to deliver the mail received for the advertiser.

Mr. Herman, who is connected with the Medical Hebrew, a weekly paper published in New York, declared he wanted a wife with enough money to set him up in the printing business.

"Two or three that answered my 'ads' have money and are anxious to marry me," he said. "I want a homely wife who will be practical and stay at home and not think about society."

One of the replies Herman received from a Yonkers woman reads: "I have been looking, as I thought, in vain for a man who would appreciate my wealth and forget my homeliness, and in you I think I may find the real partner. You may hold the pocketbook if I may hold your heart. You will never meet another whose homeliness compares with mine. No man has ever held my hand because he did not know the value of it. I am impatiently awaiting an answer from my heart's desire."—New York Telegram.

TIPPING OFF THE AUDIENCE

After That, No One Could Say He Didn't Know What He Had to Expect.

When Representative James B. Aswell of Natchitoches, La., was superintendent of schools for his state he made a tour of Arkansas for the purpose of persuading the Arkansians to submit to heavier local taxation for the benefit of the public schools. Mr. Aswell has never been a dub in the art of speaking, and on this trip he fairly burned up the countryside with his eloquence, inducing the rural populace to part with real money.

One night he was to face an audience far back in the country, in a neighborhood that had never been profaned by the screech of a locomotive or the soft rumbling of a spring wagon. At the appointed hour the farmer who was to introduce him stepped to the front of the platform, mopping his brow with a bandanna and gasping for breath. He then spoke as follows, with all the labor necessary to overturn a house or uproot an oak:

"Ladies and gentlemen, you know I ain't used to makin' no speeches. I ain't never pertended to be no orator. Besides, it's a hot night, a powerful hot night, an' you wouldn't expect me nhow to wear you out with a long speech. But I'll now introduce a man who will."—Popular Magazine.

EXPLODING MINES BY LIQUID AIR.

Rosy as a Girl.

Summit, N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church, the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years, without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a school girl." Cardui, as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieves pain and misery and is the ideal tonic for young and old. Try it. At all druggists. Advertisement.

FRANK PRICE

Driver of City Wagon For 30 Years Died Friday Night.

Frank Price, the old colored man who had been driver of the city garbage wagon for many years, was paralyzed on February 28 and died last Friday night. He was more than 70 years old and had been one of the familiar figures about town for 25 or 30 years. He drove the city wagon that called every day to haul away the sweepings from the stores and business houses. He was worthy, industrious and reputable colored man, who had many friends among the people of the city. He was a member of the Methodist church.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. MISS LUCY STARLING AGAIN WRITES FROM SIAM

Tells of The Christmas Festivities In That Far Away Asiatic Kingdom.

Nan, N. Siam, Jan. 3rd, 1914.

A happy New Year to you! I wonder if it is as cold in Ky. as it is in Siam just now? We have had 45 degrees for several mornings, which is pretty cold for a country with houses made of bamboo lattice, and no fire-places. Yesterday was the king's birthday, so we gave a holiday yesterday and today. I have been living in the kitchen, with a fire in the stove. However, there is no glass in our windows, so we have to leave them open, to get any light. This is the dry season, and we have dense fogs, instead of rain. This morning, the fog didn't lift until half past ten. In the morning, you can hear the water dripping like rain. Tailors say they have never known such cold weather since they have been in this country. I hope it won't last long, as so few of the people have half enough clothes; and the school children almost freeze. People are on the river, and we wonder how they are standing it; I shouldn't like to be in their place. They will be here in a couple of weeks, and the Beaches have moved out of their houses into the one vacated by Hartzell. It's rather hard on them, as the latter is a very poor house, and not well built, the floors are rotting everywhere.

Thursday afternoon, they had sports in honor of the king's birthday. We all went, and took the pupils along. They were very glad of the fun, though when I asked the reason of the festivities, no one knew, even the teachers. The king is only a name to conjure by, up here. The men were invited to dinner that night, with the theater afterwards. Dr. Taylor took his overcoat along, it was so cold, but Dr. Beach didn't take his, and was so cold he could hardly eat any supper. They had to stay through the first act of the play and got home at twelve o'clock. After supper, Dr. B sent home for his overcoat, but by the time it got there he was so cold, he couldn't get warmed up again, he was miserable all evening. Last night they were invited to the same sort of thing, but got home at eleven. I suppose the play went on until two o'clock in the morning. The ladies have their dinner next week with a play afterward, and I am sincerely hoping that the weather may moderate before that time, as I haven't a thing comfortable, that would be suitable to wear in the evening. This is the only affair of the whole year where one needs fancy clothes; and it will be too bad if I can't wear my evening dress.

The girls have made them a sand-bar garden this year, which is proving very productive. All the seeds were given to us, so it cost us nothing except the fence around it. We have been saving about ten cents a day since the vegetables came in. I think next year, we may try it on a larger scale. I wasn't sure how it would turn out this year, so didn't put any money into it. We have a fine matron, and she attends to it. I couldn't make it pay, if I had to hire the labor. They have also started a little garden in the back part of my yard. Some onions were stolen from the garden on the river bank, (I wonder we ever got anything out of it) so they are planting some late vegetables where they can be better guarded.

I am also working up our weaving this term. We have now three looms going, and I am hoping to find a market for our work in Bangkok. Miss Cole ordered one hundred yards of cloth for towelings while I was there. We sent down thirty yards by the boats that went to meet the Peoples, and I hope they will like it well enough to work us up some trade there. These people do weaving better than anything else, and it ought to be made profitable, if we can find an outside market. There is too little money in Nan province, to allow us much profit.

Nan, N. Siam, Jan. 10, 1914.

Best mail brought me two letters to make up for not getting any the mail before. Also one written Oct 31st, saying that the thermometer was three degrees above zero, and asking if I were not glad to be in a country where it was warm; at a time when we were all freezing, with the thermometer at 45 above. It's the first time I have wished for my muff, since I have been out here. Well, we three ladies went to our dinner, and I wore my blue dress.

We had dinner at seven, and they had a regular English dinner, with course after course of meat. The first course was good hot soup; second, chicken and potatoes; third, some sort of stuffed meat, with too much onion to suit me, with mushrooms; 4th, salad of fish, cucumbers, etc., with nice dressing; fifth, roast pork, peas, mushrooms; sixth, cake. With all this, we had bread, no butter, soda water, and wine served. There was another course, tucked in towards the last, of rice and curry.

Nearly everything was stone cold, which, spoiled it. The dinner was evidently gotten up with an eye to the foreigners, of whom there were three, and I was the only one of these who even made a stagger at eating; and I didn't see any of the natives who ate anything to speak of, except the rice and curry. And some of these passed that by, because it had grease in it. As every course was served, remarks were freely made, as to whether things were good or not; and usually, they were not good, according to their way of thinking. These people are a model of temperateness in eating, in comparison with us. I sometimes wonder if they don't think we are terrible gourmands, and I shouldn't blame them much, if they did think so.

After supper, we went outside, to a booth, where they were to have the theater; and tea, coffee, and cakes were served to us. Two or three of the head chows were also served, but I noticed they didn't touch theirs. The theater was very funny, and it was half-past twelve before it was over. I really enjoyed it very much (their theaters are beginning to show foreign influence,) but Mrs. Beach was bored to extinction, for she couldn't understand anything.

The rice is about all harvested, and next week we are going to have a "harvest home," which will celebrate, at the same time, the return of the people. We expect them in the latter part of next week. I am busy, practicing an anthem, with the two schools. It is hard work, having to drill all the parts, and wearing in the voice.

I must close now, and get to dinner. The mornings are over, before I know it. The fogs are so dense, it is very late before it gets warm enough to move around.

LUCY STARLING.

Simpson Wants Inquiry.

Laurence Simpson, a wealthy stock raiser, addressed an open letter to Circuit Judge Charles Kerr, at Lexington, asking that a special grand jury be called at once to investigate the rumors circulated that Simpson is in some way responsible for the death of his wife, Mrs. Laura Wilder Simpson, last week apparently by accident or suicide with a pistol.

New Senator.

W. S. West was sworn in Friday as successor to the late Senator A. O. Bacon, of Georgia, Senator Hoke Smith escorted his new colleague to the bar in the Senate, where Vice President Marshall administered the oath.

Job For Rogers.

The state board of prison commissioners, have elected Gus Rogers of Paducah, deputy warden of the state reformatory at Frankfort. His services will begin April 1. Mr. Rogers has been serving as mail clerk of the senate during the present session of the general assembly. He was for some time connected with the state prison at Eddyville.

Altered Circumstances.

Duncan Macpherson was playing golf. Going out he drove brilliantly over a stream in a hollow. "My, but you win a fine drive over the bonny wee burn," he remarked to his caddy. Coming home he had to play over this same "burn" for another hole and drove right into it. "Gang ye an' fish the ba' out of yon dirty sewer," he growled.

Suffered with Throat Trouble.

Mr. Barnes used to be sheriff of Warren County, Tennessee. From exposure to the elements he acquired throat trouble. He supposed that his health was entirely ruined, in spite of all the treatment he could procure. After using four bottles of Peruna he claims that he was entirely restored to health.

Catarrh of the throat is not only an annoying disease of itself, but it exposes the victim to many other diseases. We are constantly breathing into our throats numerous atmospheric germs. Disease germs of all sorts. This cannot be avoided. If the throat is healthy the system is protected from these poisonous germs. But if the throat is raw and punctured with numerous little ulcers, by catarrh, then the disease germs have easy access to the system. Keep the throat well and clean. This is the way to protect yourself against contagious diseases. Gargle the throat as explained in the new "Tills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Barnes says: "I had throat trouble and had three doctors treating me. All failed to do me any good, and pronounced my health gone. I concluded to try Peruna, and after using four bottles can say I was entirely cured."

Mr. and Mrs. Milard T. Bartley have returned from Nashville and the latter went to Dawson today to look after some concrete contract work.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Elb have returned from a visit of several weeks to Hot Springs, Ark.

Mrs. Malcolm Lunderman, of Pembroke, and Miss Sarah Catlett, of Clarksville, spent several days last week with Mrs. W. A. Radford.

Geo. E. Gary, Frank Rives, Harry Keach, A. H. Eckles and other business men went to Frankfort last night.

Alex. McArthur, the former star M. G. pitcher, now with the Pittsburgh Nationals, was here yesterday. His team is now at Dawson for winter practice and McArthur ran over to see his young lady friends.

Dr. Isbell went to Cadiz yesterday. Mrs. Rodman Morris went to Evansville, Ind., yesterday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Will Grnce.

Sam Frankel has returned from Boston and New York, where he spent several weeks selecting spring goods.

Mrs. El Reynolds and children, of Julien, are spending the week with Mrs. Edgar Bradshaw.

DIED IN TEXAS

Grandmother of Mr. G. N. Duffer Passes Away.

Mr. Geo. N. Duffer received a message Sunday morning announcing the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Glascock, in Texas. The deceased was 73 years old and a native of Warren county. She moved to Texas about five years ago. The remains were brought to Bowling Green yesterday for interment in the family burying ground in Warren county.

Negro Population of Cities.

The Philadelphia Ledger gathers together some interesting figures as to the negro population in the largest cities of the country.

Washington D. C. heads the list with the largest negro population, the total being 94,446; as against 91,709 in New York City, although the total population in New York is fourteen or fifteen times that of Washington.

Other cities show the following population of negroes:

New Orleans	89,262
Baltimore	84,749
Philadelphia	84,459
Memphis	52,441
Birmingham	52,305
Atlanta	51,902
Richmond, Va.	46,733
Chicago	44,103
St. Louis	43,960
Louisville	40,522
Nashville	36,513
Indianapolis	21,816

In proportion to population there are almost exactly as many negroes in Baltimore as in Louisville. New Orleans has a considerably larger proportion, while Memphis, Birmingham, Atlanta and Richmond have many more negroes, although a smaller population than Louisville.

The back to the land theory of Prof. Washington is being followed to some extent by Southern negroes, but the concentration in the cities continues very large.—Post.

Life Need Not Be Narrow.

Our life is just as narrow as we let it be. If we live in a lonely country place miles from a railway, we can study the plants and animals about us until we come to understand something of the secrets of the universe. If our lot is in a great city, we have opportunities of studying human nature—seeing with our own eyes the development of characters as strange as ever novelist put into his books. Multitudes of men walked the same streets with Dickens without seeing a hundredth part of what he saw. It is the power to see, and not the object to be seen, that we lack, and this power may be, to a certain extent, cultivated by practice.—Exchange.

Origin of Term "Dean."

The word dean, as applied to the dean of the diplomatic corps, or dean of a faculty was derived from the Latin decem, ten, and its original sense was a chief of ten; an early dictionary defines it as "an ecclesiastical magistrate who hath power over ten canons at the least." Gradually it came to mean the head of any organized body, the oldest in service.

FIND VALUE OF DAIRY COWS

Only Accurate Way is by Use of Milk Scales and Babcock Test—Business Methods Necessary.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

The value of a dairy cow depends upon the amount of milk and butter fat she produces and the quality of calves she raises as compared with the cost of her keep. Judges of dairy cattle can in the majority of cases select very good cows from very poor ones, but in the intermediate grades even men most familiar with the so-called dairy type make grave mistakes. If there were no other means of judging the value of dairy cows except by external appearances, profits in dairying would be more a matter of chance than is now the case. The only accurate way we have of determining the value of dairy cows is by the use of the milk scales and the Babcock test. With this clean, accurate and convenient method of finding the fat content of milk, no dairyman can afford not to know just what his cows are doing.

A Graphic Illustration at a State Fair. The Exhibit Showed the Amount of Butter Produced by Three Cows—A Poor, a Good and an Exceptionally Good Cow. The Amounts Produced Were 12 Pounds, 380 Pounds and 800 Pounds, Respectively. In Which Class Are Your Cows?

The desirability of testing cows has been urged for many years. Scores of examples could be cited where testing has meant increased profits. It is generally accepted that many dairy cows yield inadequate returns and that their removal from the herd would be a profit. The easy means of detecting the "robbers" (the Babcock test and scales) are well known and yet some dairymen go right on letting the old cow pay what she wishes for her feed. It is not enough that the herd pay a profit. Each cow in the herd should be contributing her share toward the total profit. Until dairymen come to recognize that adequate business methods are necessary they need not hope for success.

PLANT AND FRUIT DISEASES

Many People Still Ignorant of Benefits to Be Derived by Spraying for Fungus, Scab, Etc.

With all the publicity that has been given in recent years to the subject of plant and fruit diseases and the demonstration of the value of spraying, it is surprising how many people there are who still imagine that sooty fungus, blotch, scab, etc., are only natural characteristics of the fruit, and who seem slow to believe that such imperfections may be prevented to a large extent by thorough applications of fungicides, writes W. Ballard of the Maryland experiment station.

In the same connection he also states that the lime-sulphur solution was not as effective as a summer spray as the Bordeaux mixture in that section of Maryland where the station is located, and suggests that to escape Bordeaux injury that the first two sprayings after the petals have fallen the lime-sulphur solution should be used and the latter sprayings.

When the fruit is near maturity and less liable to suffer from Bordeaux injury the Bordeaux sprayings should be made.

USE OF GREEN FERTILIZERS

Most Approved Method of Renewing Depleted Soil is by Plowing Under Some Green Crop.

The plowing under of green crops like peas, oats, clover, alfalfa and other grasses, is, next to a liberal use of barnyard manure, the most approved method of renewing a depleted soil, and of maintaining the fertility of new land.

Where this is practiced in connection with a rotation of crops there need be no fear of any deterioration in the soil. Indeed, if a sufficiency of live stock is kept and the products of the farm mainly transformed into beef, mutton and poultry before being sold, the land will grow richer and more valuable with each successive year.

Profitable Cows.

In a profitable dairy herd some cows may be good enough to pay their own board bill and that of two or three unprofitable cows as well. They can all be made to pay by the use of scales and the Babcock test.

NO GOOD PICTURE OF BURNS

They All Fail to Show Why So Many Women Loved the Famous Poet.

Was this the face that launched a thousand ships And burnt the topless towers of Ilium?

asks Marlowe, writing of the vision of golden Helen. A similar question has been asked in regard to the diverging portraits of Mary Stuart. Was this the face that turned so many heads some 350 years ago? The queen of Scots was assuredly bewitching. Knox admits it, Knollys asserts it. Ruthven lost his heart to her in Lochleven castle. Whoever saw her desired her. Yet not one of Mary's portraits represented her as beautiful.

Romney has sufficiently explained the fascination of Lady Hamilton for Nelson. But Mary Stuart's charm remains unexplained by her portraits. So with her descendant, the romantic "bonnie Prince Charlie." None of his portraits accounts for the extraordinary glamour that his personality cast over the ladies who interested themselves in the '45. Even the prince's "bonnie young Flora" is represented in one portrait as a simpering person after the style of the old "books of beauty," while in another she appears nearer like the typical highland lassie she presumably was.

And what about Burns? The point I wish to make, J. Cuthbert Hadden writes in Scribner's, is that the old portrait painters are not to be depended on for strict fidelity to their originals. The mere fact that they differ so much in their representations of the same subject is enough to prove it. In regard to Burns, the question bears a twofold aspect. Not only do the portraits of the poet disagree with one another, but even that which, by its frequent reproduction, has tacitly been accepted as the truer representation cannot have been exactly like him when it was done. I refer, of course, to the familiar Nasmyth head and bust, painted in 1787, when Burns was carrying all before him on his first visit to Edinburgh.

PROPER ATTENTION TO EWES

Severe Losses Result From Attempting to Handle Early Lambs
Without Accommodations.

The flock owner who breeds his ewes to lamb during the late winter and early spring months should provide favorable conditions at the right time. Severe losses result from attempting to handle early lambs without having adequate accommodations
to provide comfort for the flock, writes L. J. Merdeth in Homestead.
The first essential to success in handling early lambs is a comfortable and well arranged sheep barn. It should be well lighted, dry and properly ventilated, and there must be plenty of pens and facilities for caring for each ewe as soon as she shows evidence of lambing.
We have found it desirable to keep on hand an adequate supply of light partitions and managers for constructing pens for the ewes as fast as needed. In this way the flock can have the run of the whole sheep barn or it can be quickly subdivided as the occasion may demand. It will be found very convenient to have a light manger that can be made fast to the corner of each pen, so that roughage may be fed regularly without being trampled
under foot and made unpalatable.
Ewes should have plenty of good,
nutritious food during the winter, not only to maintain a good flesh condition, but to nourish the unborn lambs.
Roughage alone is not enough. A light ration of grain should be fed regularly. A proper mixture of oats, barley, corn and peas will give good results. For roughage, clover or alfalfa hay and ensilage will furnish about the right proportions of bulk and succulence.

EASY WAY TO LIFT BARRELS

Simple Device Shown in Illustration
Herewith Will Be Found to Be Quite Convenient.

Where many barrels are to be lifted the following simple device will prove of great value: Including the six-inch hand grips, the handle is about two feet long. Just below the hand grip a metal hook an inch wide is fastened. This fits over the rim of Lifting Barrel.

the barrel. At the lower end of the handle is a wooden cross piece hollowed on the inner side so as to fit the curvature of the barrel. If very heavy barrels are to be lifted the handle should be from six to twelve inches longer, so as to get extra leverage
when lifting.

COLD FRAMES MORE POPULAR

Great Many Gardeners Have Realized
It Is Profitable to Grow Some Vegetables Under Sash.

Frames are used much more largely in all parts of the country than a few years ago, notwithstanding the fact that greenhouse construction has been more active. A great many gardeners have realized that it pays to grow
some vegetables under 3x6-foot sash.
This makes it a good business proposition and when frames are used on a large scale too much care cannot be exercised in the preparation of the soil. It should be fine, fairly level and contain liberal amounts of sand and humus. If to be used in the summer, the cross-hars should be easily removed so that wheel-hoes or horse cultivators can be used without difficulty, running from end to end of the long frames. The sash should fit snugly on the side boards so that as little cold as possible will be admitted under the sash. Lettuce and radishes are especially desirable for frame culture.

Scabbies in Cattle.
The requirements relating to dips
for scabbies in cattle have been that the tobacco dip should contain not less than five hundredths of one per cent. of nicotine and 2 per cent. flowers of sulphur. Recently this order has been amended, permitting the use of the tobacco dip prepared from tobacco and suitable tobacco products, provided it contains no less than seven hundredths of one per cent. of nicotine. The tobacco dip of the new strength need not contain the sulphur.

Care of Small Fruits.
Fruit of small size on berry bushes
is not always chargeable to poor varieties, but is usually due to poor culture and no pruning. Currants are largely borne on wood three or four years old. Wood that is older than this should be pruned out and enough young canes allowed to take their place. This may be done at any time after the fruit is ripe. Keep the plants well cultivated and fertilize with barnyard manure.

High-Class Protein Feed.
An acre of alfalfa will furnish more high-class protein feed than almost any other crop that is grown in the section where dairying is followed to the best advantage.

OPIUM CULTURE IN SIBERIA

Poppy Is Grown by Chinese on Land
That Is Leased From Peasants.

A bill to prohibit opium poppy growing in the Russian far east has been introduced in the duma and information on the industry is being collected, says a Vladivostok dispatch
to the New York Sun.
Poppy culture was introduced into the Ussuri district by Chinese before this region became Russian territory.
In 1907 the Russian consul at Chefoo reported the export of opium from the Maritime province to China
as 7,223 pounds and in later years
shipments have increased.
Climatic conditions in the Ussuri
district are favorable to poppy growing and three varieties are cultivated
—a white poppy with white seeds and capsules; a poppy with blue and gray seeds and open capsules. The first-mentioned variety is grown for opium production and the two others for oil.
Poppy culture is entirely in the hands of the Chinese, who pay high rents to the peasant land owners,
this freeing them from the necessity of working, which has injurious results. Although poppy culture exhausts the soil, the Chinese use the land after the poppy harvest for raising vegetables, and in this way entirely spoil the fields in a short time. Poppy culture also hurts apiculture, the productiveness of the hive falling off 75 per cent.
Since the employment of yellow labor on government works was restricted in 1910 a large number of Chinese have gone to the villages and the interior to raise poppies, and the area under cultivation in the coast region has risen from 826
acres in 1910 to 9,450 acres in 1912.
The rental an acre has also increased from $9.45 to $38.15, to which must be added the cost of guarding the lands from the hunghuses or bandits,
who are attracted to the opium regions. The high rents paid induce the Russian owners to lease the best of their lands for poppy growing and

SOME RULES FOR SUCCESS

Things the Man Who Wants to Reach
the Top Should Keep Ever
in His Mind.

If you want to make a success
of anything keep at it and the measure of your achievement will depend upon how hard you "plug."
Remember that one night of joyous entertainment, accelerated by strong drink, requires the physical and mental strength of two days of hard toil.
Too many persons are prone to give up a project before they really get started on it.
Where one man dies from over-
work 100 die of stagnation.
The employee who whatches the clock for quitting time is seldom found occupying the boss' chair in the front office.
Don't wait for somebody to slip money under your door; you must go out and make them give it up.
Get the respect of your rivals by beating them at their own game in a clean way—then you're on the road
to success.
Take care of your body and when you have reached the age of forty or forty-five you'll be able to run upstairs and can continue to work at high pressure.

MUSIC AS MEDICINE.

Some one asked Oscar Hammerstein the other day if he believed in the new therapeutic idea that music
was a medicine.
"Believe in it? Of course I do," the impresario replied. "I know at least three operas that are a drug on the market, while as for popular songs, there isn't one of them that doesn't make me ill."

TRUE.

"Here an item about a dog that can sing, after a fashion."
"He'll be in vaudeville next."
"Yes; and vaudeville has enough
of that kind of singers."

EXTRAVAGANT.

Wife—Has Mr. Jones bought an auto yet?
Husband—No, but I saw him yeaterday bargaining for an egg.

THE RESULT.

"Why was Greece so anxious to get hold of Crete?"
"I hope it was not for con Crete purposes."

DAUGHTER OF PIONEER

Died at Her Home Near Carl Last Saturday—77 Years Old.

Mrs. Ezra West died Saturday near Carl.

Mrs. Letitia West was born in this county March 15, 1837, and lacked 7 days of being 77 years of age. She professed religion at an early age and had been a faithful, consistent member of the Baptist church for nearly sixty years.

She was a daughter of Thomas and Ann Wiley, both of whom died in 1862. She was one of a family of nine children, all of whom have passed away except two brothers, G. W. and H. E. Wiley, of this city.

She was married to Ezra West 54 years ago and to this union were born 7 children, of whom six are still living with 26 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren. She lived all her life near Carl.

She was a devoted wife and tender loving mother, a useful helpful, sacrificing neighbor, giving of her services cheerfully to those in need. She left a loving testimony of her faith in her Lord and requested her preacher to preach from the words, "He that believeth on God has everlasting life." The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. T. T. Powell before a large concourse of friends, relatives and neighbors assembled to pay their last tribute of love and respect to the dear departed.

She was buried at the noted old burying ground at Antioch Church beside her father and mother, sisters and brothers, and other loved ones. Just one hundred years ago her grandfather Wiley was buried at this place.

As the sweet old songs were sung, "Jesus, lover of my soul," we could but think, the last calm sweet smile which rested on her face, assured the sentiment of the next song, "We'll soon be at home over there." The sorrowing friends at the home in farewell song, "We will meet in the sweet bye and bye." At the grave as the casket was lowered, "Nearer my God to Thee," was sung and each one felt as we sympathized with the bereaved we were near our Heavenly home. W. A. L.

DR. BEAZLEY Specialist (Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.)

Mr. Bell Returns.

Mr. John H. Bell returned yesterday from a stay of several months in North Carolina. He is greatly improved in health and is busy receiving a warm welcome from his friends.

Victim of Tuberculosis.

Robert Bracey died at his home near Lafayette a few days ago, after a lingering illness, of consumption. His wife and four small children survive.

An Original "Poem."

(By L. W. Gaines.)

Dedicated to Craftsmen of Bethel Lodge No. 204, F. & A. M., and offered at Lodge Banquet, Trenton, Ky., Hotel Williams, St. John's Eve, December 27, 1913.

(Published by Request.)

To craftsmen, one and all, we bring
A tribute of affection
Of signs, symbols and other things
Too numerous to mention.

The secret sign, the mystic grip,
Is worth the effort on the trip.
You may be sure we all endure
The self-same scare and fancy,
For only those who ride the goat
Can tell just how he prances.

From world's first dawn
Through years so long

This one strong tie hath bound us,
And nothing short of Father
Time

Should sever that tie that binds us.

The mystic circle knows no bounds
In its broad fields of charity;
Its religion is service life—
Conserved in aid and parity.

We meet while here upon the level,
With distinctions all forgotten,
We act forsooth upon the plumb
And part upon the square.

There is one prayer that I would breathe
In this our sacred presence,
And that is that our words of love
Could be carried into deeds and actions.

With this the case, can we forget
Through days and years a-bornin'

And make each day, in truth, to say
A truly St. John's morning.

With this dream true the evergreen
Would bloom upon the living
And make our earthly lodge below
But a type Elysian.—Masonic Home Journal.

In Kentucky Soil.
